4th November, 2011

Dear Palak,

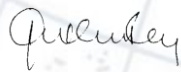

I was pleased and proud to receive an invitation from you for the inauguration of your Pain Care Clinic on 6th November, 2011. You have my full support for making this venture a success.

You are now entering a lonely world of your own. That lonely world is that you wish to help a patient suffering from pain by yourself. The patient is looking for your expertise, your advice and your suggestions to make him/her pain free or pain tolerant. You and you alone can decide as to how to do that; it is imperative that you have an up to date knowledge of Pain Medicine, practice Medicine as Hippocrates has suggested and always be truthful to the patient whatever the circumstances.

As a young and upcoming physician you are also a part of a new generation. You have an obligation to advance the science of Pain Medicine and teach and train future pain physicians. I am glad that you are a part of the Indian Section of WIP whose goals and missions are the same. Please do what you can to make this global vision a success.

Once again, Congratulations on your new Pain Care Clinic. I wish you great success.

Warmest regards,

P. Prithvi Raj
